

Terms of Service

Article 1: Introduction

1.1 This User Agreement has been entered into between SwordSec Cyber Security Technologies Inc. and legal individuals ("Users") registering on the website with the domain www.swordsec.com. The Agreement will be effective upon electronic acceptance by the User and will remain in force until terminated by the parties in accordance with the procedures specified in this Agreement.

1.2 The subject of the Agreement is the sale and delivery of products and/or services requested through the mobile application and/or the website of SwordSec, in accordance with the provisions of the Consumer Protection Law No. 6502 and other relevant legislation.

1.3 With this Agreement, SwordSec reserves the right to unilaterally modify or amend the Agreement to ensure the continuation of intermediary services, comply with future technical requirements, or comply with regulations. SwordSec will not be responsible for any changes and, in the event of any modifications, will publish the updated terms of use on the website under the same link with a new date update and notify users via email, presenting them for approval. The updated Agreement will be effective as of the publication on the website, and the use of the website or services will be subject to the renewed terms of the Agreement from that moment.

1.4 These Terms do not apply to "Corporate Publication Subscriptions" within the scope of written agreements between SwordSec and the customer.

1.5 The User acknowledges, declares, and undertakes that they accept the regulations in this Agreement, and the information provided is their accurate and valid information.

Article 2: Copyright Policy

2.1 The rights to the software used in SwordSec's design, the website, and the database belong to SwordSec. Copying or using such software, reverse engineering of these software and technologies is strictly prohibited.

2.2 The right to use materials such as software, visual and auditory designs, texts, logos, graphics, and any other type of material is exclusively owned by SwordSec. Except as provided in this Agreement, copying, reproducing, and/or using the information, content, and/or software used in creating the content and database, copying, distributing, processing, and any other use of data such as images, text, and files within the site is strictly prohibited.

2.3 You may download materials (information or software) on the website temporarily for personal, non-commercial viewing purposes. Unless otherwise specified, you may not reproduce, modify, copy, distribute, or use the content in any other way without the written permission of SwordSec.

Article 3: Prohibited Actions

3.1 The User must refrain from actions that may threaten the security of SwordSec Systems or harm other users. Actions such as running other software within the system, placing an excessive load on the system to prevent other users from benefiting, accessing the system in a way that causes these results, copying, deleting, modifying, or attempting unauthorized actions are strictly prohibited. In case of violation of SwordSec's Intellectual, Industrial, and other Property and usage rights (including damages incurred by third parties, including licensors), the User is solely responsible for compensating all damages immediately.

Article 4: Membership System

4.1 User information is considered accurate, and services provided by SwordSec will be delivered to the address information determined by the User. The User is responsible for damages resulting from incorrect or incomplete information provided by the relevant User.

4.2 SwordSec may immediately suspend or cancel the registration of the user for any reasonable reason or if the user violates these Terms of Use.

4.3 You can cancel your registration at any time by contacting us. However, if you cancel your registration, we will immediately cease your use of the SwordSec website and services. The cancellation or suspension of your registration does not affect your legal rights.

Article 5: Links to Other Websites

5.1 SwordSec's website may contain links to other websites. Unless otherwise stated, these sites are not under the control of SwordSec.

Article 6: Limitations of Liability

6.1 SwordSec is not responsible for the actions, negligence, and behavior of any third party, SwordSec users, advertisers, and/or sponsors in accordance with applicable laws regarding the use of the website.

6.2 SwordSec takes reasonable measures for protection. However, SwordSec is not responsible for the consequences of attacks on the User's information and the malicious use of the database information on this network.

6.3 The access and quality of the content provided through the website and website access are largely dependent on the quality of the internet service provided by the relevant internet service provider. SwordSec acknowledges and declares that it is not responsible for problems arising from the quality of the service provided by the relevant service, that the functionality of the Application may be faulty, and that technical malfunctions may occasionally cause access barriers.

6.4 The User acknowledges and declares that they have the authority to enter into this Agreement and, in the absence of such authority, bears all responsibility unless immediately notified. SwordSec will not be responsible for indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages, including but not limited to loss of profit, loss of reputation, or loss of reputation, arising from the use of SwordSec services or the User's other actions. SwordSec will not be responsible for punitive damages arising from the User's use of SwordSec Services or the User's other actions.

Article 7: General Terms and DDoS Test Services

7.1 SwordSec may offer DDoS (Distributed Denial of Service) test services to Users upon request.

7.2 The User acknowledges and understands that participating in a DDoS test involves consciously generating network traffic to assess the resilience of systems and networks against potential cyber threats. The User agrees that DDoS tests may cause interruptions and that SwordSec is not responsible for any damages resulting from such interruptions.

7.3 The User agrees to use DDoS test services responsibly and ethically, complying with all relevant laws and regulations. The User will not engage in malicious activities, including launching DDoS attacks against unauthorized targets or attempting to exploit vulnerabilities discovered during the test.

7.4 SwordSec reserves the right to immediately suspend or terminate DDoS test services if the User violates the conditions specified in this section or engages in any activities that may threaten the security and stability of SwordSec's systems or the general internet.

7.5 The User acknowledges that the purpose of DDoS testing is to enhance cybersecurity measures and agrees to provide clear and explicit authorization to SwordSec to conduct such tests on their systems.

7.6 If the User is unable to obtain appropriate permission for DDoS testing, the User will be solely responsible for any legal consequences that may arise from SwordSec not conducting DDoS tests on systems owned or controlled by other users.

7.7 The User is solely responsible for obtaining the necessary permissions or authorizations from third parties who may be affected by DDoS testing.

7.8 The User agrees to indemnify and hold SwordSec harmless from any claims, damages, or liabilities arising from the use of DDoS test services.

7.9 SwordSec reserves the right to change, suspend, or terminate DDoS test services at any time and for any reason without notice.

7.10 By selecting DDoS test services, the User declares that they have read, understood, and accepted the conditions specified in this section.

Article 8: SwordSec Cyber Security Technologies Inc.

8.1 SwordSec Cyber Security Technologies Inc. is a Turkish company established in Turkey. Its registered address is İvedik OSB Mahallesi

2224. Cad. No: 1/15 Yenimahalle, Ankara, Turkey, and it operates the website <http://swordsec.com>.

8.2 SwordSec's registered VAT number is 7810864284.

8.3 You can contact us by sending an email to info@swordsec.com.

SwordSec